

2009 AChE Spring National Meeting Career Fair

AChE returns to its popular tradeshow-style
Career Fair

Tampa Convention Center

Tampa, Florida
April 27, 2009

Who Will You Meet? Top-Notch Chemical Engineers seeking employment opportunities.

Why Should You Exhibit? For 100 years, the American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AChE) has been the Professional Society of choice for chemical engineers. AChE has also been a valuable recruitment resource for companies, colleges, universities and government agencies looking to hire superior chemical engineering professionals. AChE Members are an elite group committed to chemical engineering excellence, driving innovation for the organizations that employ them.

AChE Career Fairs are the premier recruiting events for Chemical Engineers interested in launching and advancing their careers and participating employers are in the spotlight at this tradeshow-style career fair. AChE's Spring National Meeting is the key conference of the year for practicing chemical engineers and your presence demonstrates your organization's support for technical excellence.

Career Fair Benefits

- Streamline your hiring process by reaching pre-qualified candidates with accredited chemical engineering degrees. AChE's rigorous membership admissions process ensures the professionals you reach through us have the credentials and talent to help your organization grow and prosper.
- Save time and money. Maximize your time by meeting numerous jobseekers in a single day and under one roof. Cost-effectively fill multiple position openings.
