- Leadership Lessons Learned: 13 years running a professional institute (Link)

On Monday April 11 at 1:30pm, the Management Division will kick off its Spring programming with a “fireside chat” with June Wispelwey. After a remarkable career in industry and 13 years at the helm of AIChE, June Wispelwey will soon be retiring. Led by Gayle Gibson and Cristina Thomas, this program will provide an opportunity to hear June’s top learnings and experiences that would benefit any leader in this fast-paced world.

- Role of Leadership in Evolving Organizational Culture (Link)

On Monday April 11 at 3:30pm, four papers will be presented on the role of leadership in evolving organizational culture. These papers will include lessons learned on leadership development, defining agile leadership, and anticipating human error. See the link above for further descriptions of each paper.

- Young Leader Award Recipient Presentation: Actively Managing Yourself to Manage Your Career (Link)

On Tuesday afternoon starting at 1:30 pm, the recipient of the Management Division Young Leader Award, Dr. Rashi Tiwari of Dow Chemical, will lead a presentation on finding your core strengths and leveraging these during career development. She will be followed by two presentations by Dow co-workers on stretch assignments and acquiring foundational skills for career growth. This session is co-sponsored by the Young Professionals Committee.

- Leadership Development: Professional Skills to Catalyze Your Career (Link)

On Wednesday morning starting at 9:00 am, the Management Division will co-sponsor this two-part program on professional skill development. Learn more about these six papers using the link above.

- Management (MGMT) & Environmental (ENV) Divisions / Chemical Engineering & the Law Forum Dinner -TICKETED EVENT

Attend our joint-division dinner at the Rio Rio Cantina on Tuesday, April 12 at 6:30 pm for an evening of networking and celebration after a 2-year in-person hiatus. This is a ticketed event; we look forward to meeting you there!
