This presentation will be given by Joey Nerstad, Life Sciences Regional Sales Manager for the East Coast for Anderson-Negele. Joey has a BS in Marketing from Auburn University. He serves as a member on the Process Instrumentation subcommittee for ASME BPE. During the presentation, he will discuss the ASME BPE Basics, the Dead-Leg study by an ASME BPE member, and instrumentation to avoid these scenarios. This study was conducted a few years ago, but has not reached everyone in our market space. Please join us to see details and demonstration on what dead-legs look like and how they affect your process.

Please RSVP by March 10th
