“Effective Interviewing 101”
 &
 Annual Scholarship Presentations

A critical part of the process of acquiring a job is the interview. There are several goals of an interview, including: to see if you are right for the position, to see if the position is right for you, and to personally articulate and illustrate the skills you've listed on your resume. Are you properly prepared for your interview?

Please join us for a presentation on techniques you can utilize to improve your chances of having a successful interview. Attendees will be acquainted with the four basic types of interview techniques that are utilized by employers, so that surprises will be minimal. Basic preparation tips will be provided, and interview “bloopers” will be identified to enhance your chances of successfully interviewing for the job of your dreams. A brief Q&A with hiring managers will follow, so your specific questions and concerns can be addressed.

Highlighting this evening's event will be the annual presentation of scholarships to chemical engineering students from N.J. Institute of Technology and Steven's Institute of Technology.
