

International Conference on Biomolecular Engineering – Singapore

Sponsorship Prospectus

January 5-7, 2016

The Conference

ICBE brings together researchers who are using quantitative approaches to advance the understanding and application of molecular biology. These scientists, engineers, and professionals are contributing to the development of analytical, molecular, high-throughput, and therapeutic strategies that are directly relevant to public health, sustainable chemistry and energy related issues. The conference will stimulate efforts to integrate these approaches across the scales of biological complexity in a single-track non Gordon-style conference format.

The Society for Biological Engineering (SBE) is excited to host ICBE outside of the United States for the first time. This will be a great opportunity to expand the strong conference community and include biomolecular engineering leaders across the globe in the cutting edge discussions and networking opportunities that the conference provides. We hope that your company will be able to join us in advancing the critical field of biomolecular engineering on an international scale.

Conference Chairs

- Mary Chan Park, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore
- Paula T. Hammond, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, USA
- Michael C. Jewett, Northwestern University, USA

Organizing Committee

- Julius B. Lucks, Cornell University, USA
- Julie A. Champion, Georgia Institute of Technology, USA
- Hongwei Duan, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore
- Changyou Gao, Zhejiang University, China
- Mattheos Koffas, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, USA
- Sang Yup Lee, KAIST, Korea
- Kristala L. Jones Prather, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, USA
- Meng How Tan, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore
- Peter M. Tessier, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, USA

The conference will be held in a single-track format focused on three main areas: metabolic engineering, materials and synthetic biology.

Why Sponsor?

The ICBE Conference provides a unique attendee mix of academia and industry. This conference is the premier event for advanced faculty members, young professionals and upcoming students to network with the senior leaders of biomolecular engineering from both a research academia and/or industry perspective. By sponsoring the 6th ICBE you show a commitment to advancing the field and will be recognized for doing so throughout the conference.

Your sponsorship shows the conference attendees, and the great field of biomolecular engineering, that you support the current leaders and next generation in developing solutions to current challenges in metabolic engineering, biologically-based materials and synthetic biology.

The availability of several sponsorship levels (listed below) allows you to choose the option that best fits with your organization's goals and budget. Further details on each level can be found on the following pages.
